Scientific events

The MSc in HRM is distinguished for its dynamic presence in both academia and business. Through a series of scientific events and other activities, it offers a valuable offer of knowledge in the field of HRM in Greece. An international Conference is organized that aims to inform the professionals of HRM about the current trends in the field of HR, Organizational Psychology and Behavior with the participation of internationally renowned academics and Greek academics and professionals of HRM. There are also regular events in collaboration with the Alumni Association (HR Society). Since 2017, the "Business Days" event has been established, during which executives share their valuable work experiences from the field of HRM with the students of the Program. In 2020, Webinars started as part of the V-Business Days (Virtual Business Days) with online events (participation of executives and / or graduates from the field of DAD).

Internship

Students have the opportunity to carry out an internship program, lasting three (3) months, in HRM departments of companies / organizations of the private or public sector. The practice is not mandatory and does not have ECTS.

Research activities

All the tutors of the Program are very active in research, both locally and internationally, publishing their scientific papers in international scientific journals and presenting them in international conferences, on topics related to HRM and other related scientific subjects (eg Organizational Behavior, Organizational Psychology, Communication, etc.). The MSc in HRM has two research laboratories: the HRM Laboratory and the Organizational Behavior and Leadership laboratory. The laboratories are staffed by a number of postgraduate students, PhD candidates and researchers, who carry out their research under the supervision of members of the Teaching/ Research Staff.

Distinctions

In October 2008 the MSc received the award "Committed to Excellence" from the European Quality Competition EFQM (European Foundation for Quality Management). It was the first educational unit of a Public University in Greece that was distinguished at the 1st level, "Committed to Excellence".

In October 2015, it and won the "Recognized for Excellence, 3-star" distinction.

The MSc in HRM has also received major awards in the annual evaluation of the Eduniversal International. The Eduniversal Ranking ranks Postgraduate Programs based on the views of professionals and graduate students of the programs. Criteria that are taken into account: the reputation of the Program, career prospects and the degree of satisfaction of graduates. In 2019, it took 10th place among all the corresponding programs in Western Europe.

These relationships are based on the existing legal framework (both for the individualistic and collectivistic point of view) and are formulated through negotiations. Under this framework, this course covers the respective needs of the students. For this reason, we offer first the necessary knowledge of individual labor law (three lectures). Subsequently, issues of conflict management and negotiation are being covered (four lectures), which specialize in industrial relations (collective relations between employees and employers) and are covered in the last part of the course program (three lectures). Under this context, negotiation models prevailing mainly in Greek enterprises are being presented.	1 st period/ 2 nd period	October-December/ January-April	6

Indeed change has always been recognised as necessary and inherent to all aspects of life. However the last decade has, for most organisations, been a time of totally unprecedented and seemingly ever accelerating change so that the phrase "change or die" has increasing resonance. Coping with change has become another element in organisations' battle to compete, thereby focusing attention on the need to manage change effectively. The aim of this course is to provide an understanding of the change management process and to present a framework for managing change. The course of Quality Management introduces the participants to the fundamentals of Total Quality and Continuous Improvement as a framework for business excellence and enhanced competitiveness. The quality of the goods, services and processes offered is a fundamental concern to all organizations, and a key to competitive advantage. Topics covered in the course include: Fundamentals and basic building blocks of Quality Management and Total Quality Management, statistical thinking, tools and methods for improving quality and productivity, overview of quality standards / excellence frameworks such as ISO 9000 and EFQM, organizational and human aspects of quality management, and quality strategy. Students will learn how to develop and implement a TQM program, to diagnose and prioritize quality problems and deepen into human resource management practices of quality.	2 nd period	January- April	5

➤ Objective of the course (preferably expressed in terms of learning outcomes and competences)  Changes are an integral part of organizational life. Organizations operate, grow and are called upon to survive in a complex environment that is constantly changing and evolving. Therefore, a basic condition for survival is the monitoring and adaptation to evolutions and changes in the external environment, as well as the effective management of human resources, which is the key to the success of any organizational change program. This is why successful executives need to know how to manage them. Mergers and acquisitions, changes in leadership, processes, structure and culture, introduction of technology and quality programs, downsizing and layoffs, innovation and growth are all very common challenges for modern businesses. This makes the administration of these programs imperative. Many researchers have concluded that the vast majority of change programs fail. ➤ The purpose of this course is to analyze the basic theories, models and case studies so that participants can: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Understand the nature and significance of change</li> <li>• Understand the success and failure factors of change programs</li> <li>• Understand the role of leadership</li> <li>• Develop models and theories of successful implementation</li> <li>• Practice by applying concepts and practices</li> </ul> ➤ Prerequisites  Change management and quality is a course that strengthens the strategic development roles of HRM. It builds on concepts developed in the earlier core courses namely, Strategy and International Management HR as well as, Organizational Psychology and Behavior. ➤ Course contents (Syllabus)  The course contains five basic teaching units that are mentioned in the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 1. INTRODUCTION TO CHANGE MANAGEMENT: This section presents the phenomenon of change and how it has occupied and still concerns humanity to this day. Individual, group and organizational change will be examined and the causes and the main types of organizational change will be investigated. The context, content and process of organizational change, the main reasons for failure of change programs and the most basic theoretical models will be identified.</li> <li>• 2. LEADERSHIP AND CHANGE MANAGEMENT: This section examines the characteristics of the leader and the differences from the manager. The main types of leadership and the required skills are presented. The concepts of power, influence &amp; persuasion are introduced and the role of the leader in the management of change is emphasized. It examines whether different leadership is required for different phases of change and the evolution of the leader's role within change management. Finally, the challenges for modern organizations are examined mainly in relation to adaptive (vs technical) changes.</li> <li>• 3. EMOTIONS AND MANAGEMENT OF CHANGE: This section presents the modern theories of emotions and the way in which they approach change. The main models of emotion analysis are examined and the individual emotional reactions to organizational changes are presented. Finally, the concept of readiness for change is introduced and the ways of its creation in the context of change management are presented.</li> <li>• 4. CHANGE OF ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE AND COMPATIBILITY OF ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE IN MERGERS AND ACQUISITIONS: This section presents the organizational culture that is a key factor of success or failure. The question is whether it can change and if so how. Finally, the compatibility of organizational culture with mergers and acquisitions is examined.</li> <li>• 5. RESISTANCE TO CHANGE: This section presents the causes and symptoms of resistance to change and how it is treated. Finally, the role of individual differences in the manifestation of such reactions is examined.</li> </ul> ➤ Recommended reading <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Recommended book: Vakola, M., &amp; Katsaros. Mandatory personal written assignment

Students will be asked to visit an organization with 200+ personnel in order to describe and evaluate ways in which the Human Resource Department develops policies and applies Diversity Management in practice. They will submit a written report of 2000-2500 words which will cover 30% of their final grade in the Course of Diversity Management and Internal Counselling.

2. Internal Consulting

➤ Lecturer: Iordanoglou Dimitra

➤ Objective of the course (preferably expressed in terms of learning outcomes and competences)

The primary aim of the course is to develop students' competencies associated with managing a workforce characterized by diversity in age, gender, race, religion, disability, and sexual orientation. The course endeavours to combine academic and research rigour with a practical focus on promoting equality and diversity in the workplace enabling students to apply acquired theoretical and empirical knowledge to specific diversity management scenarios.

Students will become familiar with the drivers of increased workforce diversity, the psychological and sociological theories underlying discrimination and exclusion in organisations, current employment legislation related to diversity in Greece, and the barriers to equality of opportunity in the workforce for minority groups. Finally, students will examine "best practice" in diversity management programmes and learn to critically assess organizational policies and practices for managing workplace diversity.

In the rapidly changing and unstable business environment in which organizations operate today, Human Resource Management needs to undertake new roles and become a strategic partner, adding value. One of these roles is that of the internal consultant. In order to meet the requirements of this role, human resource executives must function proactively, identifying areas for potential intervention and suggesting changes in cooperation with line managers, aiming at the most effective cross-departmental functioning.

The objective of this course is to help participants understand the importance of internal consulting and develop the necessary skills in order to successfully meet the requirements of an HR professional.

Contents:

- What is Internal Consulting
- How HR will become an Internal Consultant
- Stages of Internal Consulting
- The multiple roles of HR as Internal Consultant
- Identifying the needs of internal clients
- Personal credibility – Influence
- Relationship management –Cross-departmental communication
- Coaching and Consulting
- HR as collaborative leader
- The role of emotional intelligence

The methodology includes lectures, case studies, individual and group exercises and diagnostic tools so that the participants will be able to elaborate on the various topics from a Human Resource executive perspective.

PART THREE: INFORMATION FOR THE STUDENTS

PART III: STUDENT INFORMATION

GENERAL STUDENT INFORMATION

The Athens University of Economics and Business provides not only high-quality education but also high-quality student services. The adoption of the Presidential Decree 387/83 and Law 1404/83 defines the operation, organization, and administration of Student Clubs at Universities, which aim at improving the living conditions of the students and enhance their social and intellectual wellbeing through engagement and socialization initiatives. To fulfill this objective the University ensures the required infrastructure for housing, meals, and sports activities through the operation of a student restaurant, reading rooms, library, organization of lectures, concerts, theatrical performances, and excursions in Greece and abroad. Further in this context, the University supports the development of international student relations, organizes foreign language classes, computer/software literacy classes, and courses in modern Greek as a foreign language for foreign students and expatriated Greek students.

Detailed information on meals, housing, fitness, foreign languages, cultural activities, scholarships, financial aid, is provided on the website of AUEB's Student Club at <https://lesxi.aueb.gr/>

Electronic Services

A significant number of procedures related to both attendance and student care are carried out electronically through applications of the University or the Ministry of Education and Religious Affairs. All applications are accessible with the same codes (username & password).

- E-mail account:

Detailed instructions for using the Webmail Service are provided at <https://www.aueb.gr/el/content/webmail-manual>

- Electronic Secretariat (Student Register)

The Electronic Secretariat application is the information system through which students can be served by the Department's Secretariat via the web.

- Wireless network

Using their personal codes, students have access to a wireless network in all areas of the Athens University of Economics and Business buildings/campus.

- E-Learning Platform – ECLASS

The Open eClass platform is an integrated Electronic Course Management System and is the proposal of the Academic Internet (GUnet) to support Asynchronous Distance Education Services.

Instructions are provided at <https://eclass.aueb.gr/info/manual.php>

Medical Services, Insurance / Healthcare

Undergraduate, postgraduate and PhD students at the University who have no other medical and hospital care are entitled to full medical and hospital care in the National Health System with coverage of the relevant costs by the National Health Service Provider. A psychiatric counseling service also operates at the University, staffed with a physician specializing in the treatment of mental health issues.

More information at <https://www.aueb.gr/en/content/health-care> .

Services/Facilities to Students with Special Needs

The Athens University of Economics and Business ensures the facilitation of students with special needs, through the design, implementation, and environmental adaptations, for access to the university building facilities. In the main building there are specially configured lifting machines, ramps, and elevators. There are also special regulations for conducting exams for students with special needs.

The Athens University of Economics and Business has established a Committee for Equal Access for people with disabilities and people with special educational needs. The Commission is an advisory body and submits recommendations to the competent bodies for the formulation and implementation of the policy of equal access for persons with disabilities and persons with special educational needs.

Through the Library services, students with physical disabilities are granted electronic access to the recommended Greek bibliography of the courses taught at the University. In this context, the Association of Greek Academic Libraries (SEAB) has developed a multimodal electronic library called AMELib. More information is available at <https://www.aueb.gr/el/lib/content/amea-atoma-me-idiataires-anages>.

Library and Study Rooms

The Library & Information Center of the University operates at the University's main building. The AUEB Library is a member of the Hellenic Academic Libraries Association (Heal-LINK), the European Documentation Centers Europe Direct and the Economic Libraries Cooperation Network (DIOBI).

Three Documentation Centers operate within the library:

- The European Documentation Center
- The Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) Documentation Center
- The Delegation Center of the World Tourism Organization (WHO)

The library contributes substantially both to meeting the needs for scientific information of the academic community and to supporting studying and research. The library provides access to:

- printed collection of books and scientific journals,
- course books used in modules,
- collection of electronic scientific journals& books
- postgraduate theses and doctoral theses that are produced in Athens University of Economics and Business and deposited in digital form at the PYXIDA institutional repository
- sectoral studies
- statistical series by national and international organizations
- audiovisual material
- information material (encyclopedias, dictionaries)
- databases on the topics used by the University
- printed collections of other academic libraries

The library lends all its printed collections, except for magazines and statistical series, in accordance with its internal rules of operation. The Library and Information Center offers reading rooms, computer workstations for visitors, photocopiers and printing machines, and interlibrary loan of books and journal articles from other academic libraries that are members of its network. More information at <https://www.aueb.gr/en/library> .

International Programs and Information on International Student Mobility

Athens University of Economics and Business is actively involved in the Erasmus+ Program since 1987 promoting cooperation with universities, businesses, and international organizations of the European Union (EU) as well as in the mobility of students, teaching, and administrative staff.

In addition, strengthening its internationalization objectives, it creates new opportunities through the Erasmus+ International Mobility Program. Within this framework, mobility scholarships are granted through the State Scholarships Foundation (SSF) to incoming and outgoing students of the three study cycles, according to the funding approved each year by the State Scholarship Foundation for the University. Outgoing students have the possibility to spend a period of study at a Partner Institution outside the EU with full academic recognition through the application of the ECTS credits system <https://www.aueb.gr/en/content/erasmus-programme>

Connecting with the Job Market and Entrepreneurship

D.A.STA.O.P.A. (<https://www.aueb.gr/el/dasta>) is the administrative unit of the University that plans, coordinates and implements the actions of the Athens University of Economics and Business in the following areas:

- a) development of entrepreneurship and innovation
- b) connecting students and graduates with the labor market
- c) connecting the academic community with businesses
- d) student internship programs and,
- e) supporting research utilization actions

Student Associations

Various student clubs and associations are active within the community of the Athens University of Economics and Business

(<https://www.aueb.gr/el/content/student-associations>).

Alumni Network

Adhering to a long tradition of educating future top executives in the economic, social, and political life of the country, AUEB is proud that thousands of its graduates hold leading positions in companies, organizations, research institutes and universities in Greece and abroad. Understanding the importance of developing and strengthening the bond with its graduates, AUEB created its Alumni network including a platform <https://alumni.aueb.gr> where all graduates of the University can register. The main objectives of the Network are the connection of the graduates with their colleagues and former fellow students, and diffusion of information about activities, services, and events in and around the University that concern them.

Additional information on Clubs and Alumni Associations is available on the website <https://www.aueb.gr/el/content/organizations-and-associations-of-students-and-alumni>.

Volunteer Program

Within the framework of its strategies, the "AUEB Volunteers" Volunteering Program was launched in September 2017. The aim of the Program is to highlight important social issues and the value of participation and practical contribution, but also to raise community awareness regarding the 17 UN Sustainable Development Goals. Actions are developed around two pillars: (a) actions addressed to AUEB's Community, which have as their main objective the maintenance of the quality of the University's infrastructure based on their aesthetics and functionality, and (b) actions addressed to Greek society. (<https://auebvolunteers.gr/>).

Quality Assurance

The Athens University of Economics & Business implements a quality assurance policy to continuously improve the quality of its study programs, research activities and administrative services, and upgrade the academic and administrative processes and the University's operations. The Quality Assurance Unit (MODIP) operating at AUEB coordinates and supports evaluation processes. Particularly the quality assurance of the educational process is achieved using the module/teaching evaluation questionnaire completed by AUEB students. (<https://aueb.gr/modip>).

Training and Lifelong Learning Center

The Center for Training and Lifelong Learning (KEDIVIM) is an AUEB unit which ensures the coordination and interdisciplinary cooperation in the development of training programs, continuing education, training and in general lifelong learning, which complement, modernize and/or upgrade knowledge, competences, and skills, acquired from formal education, vocational education and initial vocational training systems or from work experience, facilitating integration or reintegration in the labor market, job security and professional and personal development.
